

National Service in Washington

MEETING COMMUNITY NEEDS IN WASHINGTON

More than 7,800 people of all ages and backgrounds are helping to meet local needs, strengthen communities, and increase civic engagement through national service in Washington. Serving at more than 1,500 locations throughout the state, these citizens tutor and mentor children, support veterans and military families, provide health services, restore the environment, respond to disasters, increase economic opportunity, and recruit and manage volunteers.

This year, the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) will commit more than $38,470,000 to support Washington communities through national service and social innovation initiatives. CNCS invests in cost-effective community solutions--working hand in hand with local partners to improve lives, expand economic opportunity, and engage citizens in solving problems in their communities. Serving in many of the state's most impoverished communities, CNCS provides vital support to schools, food banks, homeless shelters, community health clinics, youth centers, veterans service facilities, and other nonprofit and faith-based organizations at a time of growing demand for services. Through a unique public-private partnership, this federal investment will leverage an additional $24,520,000 in other resources to strengthen community impact, build local support, and increase return on taxpayer dollars. Nationwide, CNCS, its grantees, and project sponsors generated more than $1.25 billion in outside resources from businesses, foundations, public agencies, and other sources in FY 2015.

AmeriCorps: This year AmeriCorps will provide more than 1,900 individuals the opportunity to provide intensive, results-driven service to meet education, environmental, health, economic, and other pressing needs in communities across Washington. Most AmeriCorps grant funding goes to the Serve Washington, which in turn awards grants to nonprofit groups to respond to local needs. Most of the remainder of the grant funding is distributed by CNCS directly to multi-state and national organizations through a competitive grants process. Other individuals serve through AmeriCorps VISTA, whose members help bring individuals and communities out of poverty by serving full-time to fight hunger and illiteracy, improve health services, and increase housing opportunities, and AmeriCorps NCCC (National Civilian Community Corps), a 10-month, full time residential program for men and women between the ages of 18 and 24. In exchange for their service, AmeriCorps members earn an education award that can be used to pay for college or to pay back qualified student loans. Since 1994, more than 38,000 Washington residents have served more than 58 million hours and have qualified for Segal AmeriCorps Education Awards totaling more than $138,600,000.

Senior Corps: More than 5,800 seniors in Washington contribute their time and talents in one of three Senior Corps programs. Foster Grandparents serve one-on-one as tutors and mentors to more than 2,000 young people who have special needs. Senior Companions help more than 850 homebound seniors and other adults maintain independence in their own homes. RSVP volunteers conduct safety patrols, renovate homes, protect the environment, tutor and mentor youth, respond to natural disasters, and provide other services through more than 550 groups across Washington.

Social Innovation Fund: The Social Innovation Fund transforms lives and communities using limited federal investment as a catalyst to grow the impact of nonprofits with evidence of strong results. It harnesses the expertise of grantmaking intermediaries to identify, evaluate and expand effective nonprofits and engages funding partners to contribute nearly three dollars to every one federal dollar invested. As the Social Innovation Fund network grows programs that work in Washington, more people are able to overcome their most pressing challenges in the areas of economic opportunity, health, and youth development. The Social Innovation Fund is investing more than $990,000 in expanding the impact of 12 nonprofits in Washington.

The Corporation for National and Community Service is a federal agency that improves lives, strengthens communities, and fosters civic engagement through service and volunteering. CNCS engages millions of Americans in service to meet local needs through Senior Corps, AmeriCorps, and national days of service; improves communities through the Social Innovation Fund, and leads volunteer initiatives across the nation. Notes: The data shown represents a snapshot in time. CNCS project sites, participants, and funding change throughout the year, so the data may not reflect current conditions.

- ¹ This figure represents the number of awarded positions available to be filled in the 2016 - 2017 program year. For AmeriCorps VISTA, this represents the actual number of VISTA members in active service.
- ² This figure represents the maximum potential value of Segal AmeriCorps Education Awards that can be earned by AmeriCorps members serving in Washington. The award can be used in any state to pay for college, graduate school, vocational training, or to pay back student loans. The education award total is included in total CNCS funding.
- ³ AmeriCorps National figures may include national programs headquartered in the state and/or operating sites of national programs that are headquartered in other states. Funding reflects the estimated proportionate share of the national grant associated with operating sites in this report. Some national organizations do not report operating site data, or it was not available at time of publishing, so figures may not reflect current conditions.
- ⁴ Washington is served by the AmeriCorps NCCC campus located in McClellan, California.
In the past year, AmeriCorps NCCC teams have served on projects in Twisp, Battle Ground, Deer Harbor, Gig Harbor, Vancouver, Puyallup, Lynnwood, Longview, Colville, Seattle, Renton, Dupont.
- ⁵ The service location total may contain multiple counts of unique locations where multiple CNCS programs are operating.
- ⁶ As part of its public-private partnership approach, CNCS requires grantees to leverage additional resources to strengthen community impact and increase the return on the federal investment. This figure reflects non-CNCS cash and in-kind resources that CNCS grantees and project sponsors have committed to raise or other revenue used to support their programming activities across the state. Last year, CNCS, its grantees, and project sponsors generated more than $1.25 billion in outside resources from businesses, foundations, public agencies, and other sources.

Since 1994, more than 38,000 Washington residents have served more than 58 million hours and have qualified for Segal AmeriCorps Education Awards totaling more than $138,600,000.

State Commission

Created in 1994, Serve Washington advances national service, volunteerism, and civic engagement to improve lives; expands opportunity to meet the local critical needs of residents of Washington; and strengthens community capacity while creating healthy and resilient communities. Six staff provide administrative oversight for $14.4 million in federal AmeriCorps program funding from the Corporation for National and Community Service. The Commission supports 15 AmeriCorps programs that engage more than 1,300 AmeriCorps members in service to address needs in the areas of disaster services; economic opportunity; education; environmental stewardship; healthy futures; and veterans and military families. Through capacity building activities, Serve Washington ensures that all AmeriCorps subgrantees are effective and fully comply with applicable regulations enabling them to operate impactful programs that provide high quality service experiences for AmeriCorps members. Typical activities include subgrantee training and technical assistance, subgrantee program and fiscal monitoring, and hosting the Leadership Forum for National Service Executives.

AmeriCorps State

The Washington Service Corps, housed in the Washington State Employment Security Department, has 570 AmeriCorps members serving throughout the state, including in rural, underserved areas with limited capacity and resources. In the past year, the AmeriCorps members trained nearly 40,000 people on personal disaster preparedness; and more than 39,000 said they had greater knowledge and awareness to respond to a disaster. Members taught academic support programs to 6,302 students. Of these students, 75 percent improved by at least one benchmark. Members also trained more than 30,000 people on energy efficiency and environmentally conscious practices and more than 15,000 people on health issues. They engaged 871 veterans in volunteer projects and days of service and 66 percent of the veterans plan to return for additional volunteer opportunities. America's Service Commissions recognized the Washington Service Corps as the 2015 Outstanding Service Program.

The Washington Conservation Corps engages 316 AmeriCorps members protect and restore the environment. AmeriCorps members, who are young adults ages 18-25 and military veterans, serve in field crews and in individual positions. The Corps also operates an AmeriCorps disaster response team which responds to local and national disasters. It is housed in the Department of Ecology and coordinates with the Departments of Natural Resources, Veteran Affairs, Fish and Wildlife, and State Parks for additional resources and funding. It partners with more than 50 local and federal organizations to accomplish environmental projects throughout the state. In the past year, AmeriCorps members treated 3,170 acres of public and tribal land. They planted native trees and shrubs, removed invasive species, and created or improved trails. They also responded to major disasters, including local flash flooding, local wildfires, and the federally-declared disaster area of Saipan, in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, after a destructive typhoon hit the island.

AmeriCorps National

City Year Seattle/King County AmeriCorps engages 84 members who serve full-time at 10 schools, helping more than 4,500 students at greatest risk of dropping out. AmeriCorps members serve alongside teachers, using research-based tools to improve students' attendance, behavior, and performance in math and English. The members also lead afterschool programs and school-wide initiatives to improve school culture. Thanks to the members' service, 74 percent of students in grades 3 through 5 who had support from the City Year AmeriCorps members improved their literacy scores, and 36 percent improved a whole grade level or more. Additionally, 86 percent of students in grades 3 through 5 who tutored by members improved their score on standardized math tests; 40 percent improved a grade level or more.

In the Spokane community, where poverty rate of males is nearly double that of the rest of the state, Jesuit Volunteer Corps Northwest AmeriCorps member Thomas served in the Childbirth and Parenting Assistance Program of Catholic Charities Spokane. He provided social support, counseling, and educational services to low-income families with children under five years old. He and his supervisor created a Fatherhood Parenting Class, a four-week course with a research-based curriculum to help fathers learn parenting skills and tips about family discipline, health, safety, and empathy. They developed the class to meet Spokane's growing need for parenting programs that focus on the needs of fathers and their unique strengths, weaknesses, and interests. Thanks to this curriculum, the ten fathers who took the class have better parenting knowledge, have shown an interest in several other Childbirth and Parenting Assistance services, and learned lifelong lessons that are helping their families.

Mt. Adams Institute VetsWork AmeriCorps members serve with public lands management and natural resource agencies to meet land improvement needs that would otherwise be unmet. AmeriCorps members maintain trails, clear non-native invasive species, maintain recreation areas, engage volunteers, do technical writing, and evaluate and document archeological sites. In Gifford Pinchot National Forest, Mt. Baker-Snoqualmie National Forest, Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forest, Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery, Conboy National Wildlife Refuge, and through Washington State Department of Veterans Affairs, 14 VetsWork AmeriCorps members gave 14,796 hours of service. The members maintained 577 miles of trail, maintained and assessed 122 facilities, and cleared 771 acres of non-native invasive species. They marked 55 acres of timber, assessed 7,155 acres of range allotment, and built 17,250 feet of fencing. They taught 445 students for a total of 1075 hours of instruction, coordinated 345 volunteers who gave 3,693 hours of service and made 375 visitor contacts.

AmeriCorps VISTA

AmeriCorps VISTA member Courtney Catt hit the ground running in late August at Martin Luther King Jr. Family Outreach Center in Spokane. She has already restructured and reactivated an after school tutoring program at Grant Elementary School, complete with policies and procedures, methods of operation, and new university partnerships. Tutors are signed on and the program is soaring. In addition, the Early Childhood Education and Assistance Program at the center has already been able to measure increased literacy in 15 children and increased math/number literacy in 30 children due to Courtney's capacity building efforts.

Rebecca Craig, an AmeriCorps VISTA with Jewish Family Service of Seattle, is connecting highly-skilled refugee professionals with employment opportunities in their field. One of these professionals is Abdalnaser. He has a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Iraq and 13 years' experience working for large international corporations. Since coming to America two and a half years ago, he has been unable to find a job in his field, and took a job as a maintenance technician at an apartment complex to support his family. Recently, Jewish Family Service and the City of Kent were able to provide Abdalnaser with an opportunity to gain experience in the field with the Community and Economic Development Department. Abdalnaser sat in on multiple engineering meetings and connected with engineering managers and senior level engineers. This included a civil engineer who is a refugee from Latin America whose story reminded Abdalnaser of his own. "We talked about many things, until almost 7pm when we looked around and it was us left in the office. It was great to meet someone who has been through what I have been through." Abdalnaser said, "I have been waiting for this opportunity for more than two years."

AmeriCorps NCCC

The mission of the Carlton Complex Long Term Recovery Group is to ensure that the diverse disaster recovery needs of the community are fully met following the historic wildfire and flooding of July 2014. The community lost more than 350 homes and more than 600 residents had direct personal property loss due to the fires and floods. To support their recovery efforts, the Project requested the service of an AmeriCorps NCCC team. The team's projects ranged from sorting clothes to working at disaster survivors' homes, but were all geared towards facilitating the recovery process of the community. The team often served alongside community members, and repaired a total of 13,182 feet of fencing. Some of the affected homes were still in the first stages in disaster recovery, which involves removing burned debris. The team removed 9,120 pounds of debris, completed one half acre of land restoration, and landscaped three additional acres of land. In an effort to clean up and reduce future fire fuel, the team burned one quarter-acre of land in prescribed burns and dug a trench for power lines at a burn site.

Camp Korey's mission is to honor the courage, strength, and determination of children and their families who battle life-threatening and serious illnesses, and to provide them with a safe, friendly, and medically-sound environment in which to simply have fun and be kids. The camp serves more than 3,000 children and family members annually, and is the only camp for children with craniofacial disorders, skeletal dysplasia, mitochondrial disease, and several other conditions in the Northwest United States. An AmeriCorps NCCC team was requested to support maintenance work of the camp grounds. While serving with Camp Korey, the team cleared 725 pounds of invasive species from 29 acres and maintained two miles of existing trails. The team harvested more than 1,200 pounds of produce, weeded 12 acres, and helped to make the garden wheelchair accessible. In addition to the garden work, Members painted four picnic tables, dug four garden beds, inventoried a warehouse, and participated in two camp programs by side-walking horses and helping coordinate fishing and boating for 60 campers.

Senior Corps Foster Grandparent Program

At Beacon Hill International School, Foster Grandparent Refugio Gutierrez serves in the first grade Spanish immersion classroom. When asked to describe her relationship with the children at the site, staff responded, "Refugio is very calm and pleasant and has a heart for the students. She is very helpful and the students love her." They go on to say that Ms. Gutierrez is "intuitive and takes the initiative to interact and assist the students." Refugio works with a child that struggles to stay on task. When the teacher does class instruction she is unable to dedicate the attention to help the student get back on track. Refugio stays close to the child and participates in the activity alongside him which helps redirect his attention. Refugio mentioned afterwards that this particular child often struggles to stay on task, and therefore she watches him to see when he needs additional support.

Senior Corps RSVP

RSVP of Spokane County is sponsored by the YMCA of the Inland Northwest. One of the programs coordinated by RSVP is the Reading Corps, an elementary tutoring program consisting of 11 volunteer tutors. In addition to regular tutoring services, the RSVP Reading Corps distributed more than 300 books to 100 students at Holmes Elementary School in Spokane with financial support from a grant from First Book. Holmes Elementary School has the highest percentage of low-income students in the area with 89 percent of the students receiving free and reduced price lunches. In addition to the books, 20 Project Warm-Up RSVP volunteers also provided each student with a hand-knitted hat for the winter. This is a true team effort to support students in Spokane.

Senior Corps Senior Companion Program

Immigrant seniors living in the Seattle and surrounding Puget Sound area represent an array of different ethnic backgrounds ranging from Korean to Laotian. The Senior Companion Program of King and Snohomish County has been recruiting volunteers whose first language is not English for the past 25 years to assist these underserved, isolated, and disabled seniors. Erlinda Lorenzo is a Filipino volunteer who has been serving with the Senior Companion Program since 2010. Erlinda serves six Filipino clients, all of whom don't speak English. She assists them in signing up for local social services and taking the metro around Seattle. She is also a great companion and will cook authentic Filipino food for lunch and bring it with her on home visits. In 2014, Erlinda was recognized by Governor Jay Inslee for her exceptional volunteer service and went for a visit to the governor's mansion. One of Erlinda's clients described her this way, "Erlinda is very kind, caring and helpful. We laugh a lot together; I appreciate our bond over sharing the same background. She makes me feel less lonely overall."

Social Innovation Fund

The Social Innovation Fund (SIF) transforms lives by using evidence to find what works and make it work for more people. The SIF Classic and SIF Pay for Success programs harness the expertise of grant-making intermediaries to identify, evaluate and expand effective nonprofits serving low-income communities across America. The SIF programs in the state focus on a variety of areas including mental health, workforce development, affordable housing, and more. In the fall, Skill Up Washington and its employer partner provided training to 62 individuals who earned a total of 206 college credits. This represents significant growth from the previous fall when the employer partner offered two classes with just 13 individuals completing classes. Subgrantees of the John Hartford Foundation have provided nearly 800 beneficiaries with mental health services. The Social Innovation Fund is investing $355,000 and is expanding the impact of 10 nonprofits in Washington.

Volunteer Generation Fund

In Washington State, the Volunteer Generation Fund (VGF) is strengthening volunteer centers through planning and capacity building, enabling replication of successful programs and engagement models. Serve Washington, Volunteer Centers of Washington, and 501 Commons continue to expand statewide programs. Over the next three years, Washington State's Volunteer Generation Fund partners will focus on activities that support volunteerism as a strategy to support the educational success of students in our state. The activities will include support for STEM programs, reading initiatives, after-school programs, initiatives targeted to reduce disproportionality in educational outcomes, and preparation for post-secondary education. In 2014-15, the Volunteer Generation Fund supported organizations generated 13,189 volunteers who served 64,502 hours. The Washington Serves Plan, developed during the first year of the Volunteer Generation Fund, is being updated in 2016 to serve as a vision for sustaining an effective volunteer ecosystem that addresses the diverse needs of communities throughout Washington State.

Olympia, WA	Washington State Health Care Authority Corporation for Supportive Housing (2014)	The State of Washington will be part of a cohort of state governments all interested in the use of the PFS model to provide persons residing in institutional settings with the opportunity to transition to community-based supportive housing. Washington's project will focus on providing supportive housing to residents of health care institutions who prefer to live in the community in order to ensure that Washingtonians with disabilities have an alternative to an institutional setting. CSH and the HKS SIB Lab will collaborate to provide a joint cohort-based model of technical assistance. Subgrantees will receive government-focused expertise on SIB development, evaluation design, and SIB procurement from the HKS SIB Lab and issue-specific expertise from CSH and its partners, the Center for Health Care Strategies and Third Sector Capital Partners, including expertise in the areas of Medicaid funding of institutional and community-based services and the creation and operation of high quality supportive housing including the design of service models best suited to meet the needs of the identified target population.

Olympia, WA	Washington State Department of Early Learning and Thrive Washington Institute for Child Success	The Institute for Child Success and Third Sector Capital Partners will collaborate to provide a joint cohort-based model of technical assistance for Washington State's Department of Early Learning (DEL) and Thrive Washington. The DEL seeks to expand programs that enhance child development and well-being, reduce child abuse and neglect, and promote school readiness. To that end, the Department sought out Pay for Success (PFS) technical assistance to conduct a feasibility study focused on scaling Home Visiting programs across the state such that a higher number of at-risk families could be served. The study will assess which outcomes could potentially generate the most cost savings, where the savings is most likely to be realized, the cost of scaling, the landscape of potential philanthropic and private sector investment, legislative and advocacy support, and how best to develop a blueprint for the next steps in implementation, among other things. Through the partnership, Third Sector will create a PFS Contract Implementation Plan, an Evaluability Assessment, a high-level Integrated Economic Model, a cost-benefit analysis and budget, and Funder Interest Groups. Third Sector will also lead the identification of procurement options, will obtain, finalize, and analyze any relevant data linkages across government administrative data systems, and will propose relevant target population size and outcome metrics. ICS will identify viable service providers for the proposed PFS project, and also lead development and sharing of lessons learned with the national early childhood community. ICS will also help the service provider understand its capacity and organizational needs in order to scale up for a PFS project and will help the provider understand its cost structure and drivers.
Seattle, WA	United Way of King County Jobs for the Future (2015) OYIF	United Way of King County and the Community Center for Education Results, with their partners in the Road Map Project collaborative, are implementing a postsecondary bridging program in reengagement centers that are currently focused on helping youth attain a high school credential. They are bringing in Seattle Education Access (SEA), which has a set of postsecondary bridging services that have shown success in helping youth—especially youth of color—succeed in college. SEA's College and Career Success model addresses barriers often faced by opportunity youth by providing them with student-centered college access and navigation services, including creating a college funding plan, facilitating career exploration, fostering self-advocacy, preparing for postsecondary placement tests, connecting youth to broader networks, and supporting students as they transition to and through college. SEA education advocates will work closely with case managers at the reengagement centers, and supplement their supports through partnering with AmeriCorps members and college counseling services. Area reengagement centers are supported by "Open Doors" state policy that drives per-pupil funding to dropout recovery programs. South King County collective impact partners expect that once the SIF evaluation demonstrates the effectiveness of postsecondary bridging, they will have powerful evidence for an advocacy effort focused on enhancing the per-student funding model, enabling this bridging support to be offered to all recovered dropouts in the state.

Auburn, WA	Orion Industries REDF (2015)	Orion Industries' mission is to change the lives of people with barriers to employment by building esteem and creating opportunities through training, education and successful business platforms. Orion uses operations in its Aerospace manufacturing division and Contact Center Services division as platforms to teach people job skills through mentoring and internship programs. Orion's Training & Employment division supports individuals in achieving their goals through job placement and job retention services.
Seattle, WA	FareStart REDF (2015)	Since 1992, FareStart has provided culinary training and employment to people with barriers to employment. They know poverty is a perpetual cycle—especially for people who are homeless, in recovery, or previously incarcerated. For these populations, finding and keeping a job is a huge struggle. FareStart helps people overcome the barriers to employment by developing the work and life skills they need to have lifelong careers. Based in Seattle, WA, FareStart operates a lunch restaurant and two cafes, catering, and contract meal production, fueled by the talent and hard work of their students.
Seattle, WA	Millionair Club Charity Inc. REDF (2015)	Based in Seattle, WA, many of Millionair Club Charity, Inc.'s clientele are experiencing homelessness and working to stabilize their lives. Services provided include showers and hygiene stations, daily lockers, daily hot meals and sack lunches, free eye exams and prescription eye wear, free cell phones, and use of computers. Since 1921 the Millionair Club Charity has operated a temporary staffing social enterprise, Millionair Club Charity Staffing Solutions, a supportive employment program that specializes in helping people who are experiencing homelessness or other barriers to employment to become job ready. The Millionair Club Charity's Temporary Staffing Solutions program connects men and women with employment opportunity at over 1,100 businesses and residences in the greater Seattle area.
Seattle, WA	United Way of King County Share Our Strength	Since 1921, United Way of King County has been bringing caring people together to give, volunteer, take action and to help people in need and solve their community's tough challenges. United Way of King County launched its Hunger Free King County Plan in spring of 2009 in response to the rapidly increasing demand on the emergency food system. • Exceeded the goal of serving one million meals over two summers • More than 100 volunteers ran 250 meal sites • Connect 4,000 families to SNAP each year under their NKH SIF grant award, United Way of King County will focus in King County.
Bremerton, WA	Peninsula Community Health Services The John Hartford Foundation	The John A. Hartford Foundation plans to disseminate the IMPACT model of depression treatment through community health clinics as subgrantees to serve low-income, rural communities in Wyoming, Washington, Alaska, Montana, and Idaho. The IMPACT model is a collaborative care approach in which a primary care provider (PCP) and care manager team, along with a psychiatric consultant, provide treatment for depression. The care managers and PCPs retain primary responsibility for treatment and receive advice from the psychiatric consultant when patients are not improving. The key anticipated outcomes for the SIF IMPACT evaluation include the following: 1) Increased access to effective depression treatment for low-income patients in rural areas; 2) Decreased depression and improved social and occupational functioning among these patients; and 3) Improved economic well-being of individuals and families served including: a) Reduction of costs related to health care expenditures; b) Improvements in employment and related income; and c) Reduction in care-related costs for depression that are borne by family members.
